Racial Issue at Little Rock May Be Revived

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The long-fought Little Rock integration battle may be about to break out in the courts again.

Negro attorney Wiley Branton of Atlanta, Ga., said in Atlanta today that he is "in the process of preparing pleadings to file in federal District Court in Little Rock to make integration in Little Rock real rather than token."

Branton, new director of voter education for the Southern Regional Council, represented Negro plaintiffs in the original Little Rock desegregation case, which dragged through the courts for five years before ending a year ago.

He did not say when he would file the new action or what form it would take.

The original suit was filed to contest a voluntary plan of integration which Negroes felt was too slow.

Federal courts approved the plan, however, and nine Negroes broke Little Rock's racial barrier at Central High School in 1957.

Today, 68 Negroes attend integrated classes in three high schools and five junior highs. Seventy-eight were assigned to integrated schools last fall, but 10 voluntarily moved back to all-Negro schools.

Everett Tucker Jr., president of the school board, said he believes desegregation has been "successfully accomplished" in Little Rock.

"There have been problems along the way, most of which we feel have been satisfactorily resolved," he said. "There will be other problems in the future, I feel sure, but I am equally confident that they will be susceptible of solution."

Board member Ted Lamb disagreed, however. "To have real integration," he said, "we would have to permit every child to go to the school he lives closest to. In the final analysis, that is the requirement of the courts. We are getting by with what we're doing because we don't have a lawsuit filed against us."

School records show that 104 Negroes applied for admission to once-white schools last fall and 38 applications were approved. In addition, 40 Negroes who had been attending integrated schools, were permitted to return to them.

School board policy encourages only Negroes who are leaving the sixth or ninth grades to move from all-Negro to integrated schools.

Branton said the court-approved desegregation plan was supposed to be completed "at all grade levels" by 1963 but "it has not even started in the elementary school grades."

"Right now there are 60-odd Negroes attending integrated schools," Branton added. "We say the number ought to be in the hundreds." Tucker said the board has not yet discussed in detail the possibility of desegregating elementary schools.

"Board members have not been asked for a definite expression on this," he said.

Tucker first was elected to the board in 1958 after the old school board resigned en masse in a protest against Gov. Orval E. Faubus' action in closing schools against integration.

Under Tucker's guidance, the gradual plan of integration was finally put into effect in August 1959.

Branton moved to Atlanta earlier this year. He formally practiced law in Pine Bluff, Ark., and he still has a law office there.

Paragould to Make Improvement

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Preliminary planning has been authorized by the Paragould City Council for a proposed $1,792,000 municipal improvement program.

The city would seek 50 per cent federal matching funds under the Public Works Acceleration Act in carrying out the program, officials said.

Included in the program would be improvements in the city's sewer system and extension of the water system.

India Seeking Cash, Has New Defense Chief

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India got a new defense minister today and sought more money to fight the border war against Red China.

Prime Minister Nehru, speaking on his 73rd birthday, told Parliament a way must be found to end the clash between the world's two most populous nations he gave no indication that any settlement was in sight.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan announced the appointment of Y. B. Chavan, the vigorous young head of the Bombay State government, to take over the Defense Ministry.

That is the post which V. K. Krishna Menon, a controversial leftist associate of Nehru, lost Oct. 31 in the face of charges that he had failed to prepare India's defense against the attack.

K. Raghuramiah was named minister of state for defense production, a job in which Menon served through the first week of November.

Finance Minister Morarji Desai submitted to Parliament a request for an additional $199.5 million to meet increased defense costs caused by the Red Chinese invasion. The regular appropriation for the armed forces in the fiscal year ending next March 31 was $715 million.

Parliament completed passage of a resolution dedicating the Indian people "to drive out the aggressor from the sacred soil of India, however long and hard the struggle may be." The resolution accompanied authorization of a state of emergency.

House members passed it unanimously and cheered. The upper house had given its overwhelming approval Tuesday.

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Anti-Castro refugees were warned at a mass meeting Tuesday night that any who are caught attempting to escape abroad from this U.S. naval base will be expelled from the base and returned to Cuba.

The warning followed by two days the arrest of 14 refugees who were trying to stow away on a merchant ship bound for the United States. All 14 are now in the Navy brig here. They have refused to eat or work.

There are about 440 Cuban refugees here. About 200 of them classed themselves as violent opponents of Prime Minister Fidel Castro. Formerly there were about 560 refugees at the base, but about 100 managed to escape.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the warning was delivered at a meeting by a U.S. naval intelligence officer.

Some of the refugees boycotted the meeting. They had found out in advance what it was about and refused to attend.

One Cuban source said some of the refugees were planning to test whether the United States actually would send them back to Cuba—and possible death.

Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, commander of the base, refused to comment on the warning. Policy respecting the refugees is determined by the U.S. State Department.

Family Has 4th Set of Twins

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—The fourth set of twins in as many trips to the hospital was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Sherman E. King of nearby Aumsville.

The infants are boys. The Kings, who receive welfare payments, have a boy and girl, 9; two boys, 7; and a boy and girl, 2½. They had three children before the first twins arrived.

King has not been able to work for some time because of a back injury.

Withdrawal of U.S. From Cuba Is Demanded

By HOWE HOGUE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Some U.N. delegates assessed today new Soviet-Cuban demands, reported to include U.S. withdrawal from the base at Guantanamo, as a bargaining maneuver in negotiations to end the Cuban crisis.

"It is just another move in the chess game," said one diplomat. "Now the Russians will wait for the United States to make a move."

The United States was certain to reject the package presented to U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant Tuesday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson met for 3½ hours Tuesday night with Kuznetsov and said the talk was "constructive." He said it "served to identify and clarify the positions of both countries on the unresolved issues."

Kuznetsov presumably presented the new Soviet-Cuban proposal to Stevenson. The American delegate was believed to have countered with the main U.S. demands—that the Soviet Union withdraw its 112 jet bombers from Cuba and permit adequate verification that Soviet missile sites have been dismantled and all rockets and other offensive weapons sent back to the Soviet Union.

The new Soviet-Cuban proposal was reported based on Prime Minister Fidel Castro's five-point demand made on Oct. 28 for an end to all U.S. activities against his regime and U.S. withdrawal from Guantanamo. The five points apparently were worked over by Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, who has been in Havana since Nov. 2.

Informants said the Soviet-Cuban proposal dealt mainly with U.S. withdrawal from Guantanamo and included an end to the U.S. naval blockade of arms shipments and measures by the United States to prevent hostile activity against Cuba by exiles.

It also was said to call for firm guarantees that the United States will not invade Cuba.

President Kennedy made a no-invasion pledge contingent on the Soviet Union living up to Premier Khrushchev's promise to pull out all missiles and other offensive weapons under adequate verification.

The President has stressed that he considers the jet bombers offensive weapons.

The Soviet Union has balked at removing the jets, contending that they were turned over to Castro and are under his control.

Chances of lifting the blockade were remote following word from Geneva that the International Red Cross Committee had decided not to take part in inspection of Cuba-bound ships under present conditions.

The United States has indicated it will continue the quarantine until the bombers are out and will keep Cuba under air surveillance as long as it feels that necessary to safeguard against re-establishment of offensive weapons there.

U.S. Warns 11 Districts to Integrate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The federal government has mailed letters informing 11 Arkansas school districts that non-segregated schools must be provided starting with the 1963-64 school year for children living on federal installations.

Oliver told the committee, "the Council's Roads and Highways committee the Highway Department could absorb up to 600 miles of such roads each year without disturbing its other programs."

The committee was directed by the 1961 Legislature to study the feasibility of changing the roads from county to state jurisdiction.

Oliver told the committee, "the immediate transfer of this group of roads, in toto, is not feasible from any standpoint—financial, engineering or otherwise."

He said transfer of the roads would endanger the department's program of state highway construction.

But Marion Crank, committee chairman, said, "we've got to have some kind of program for improving rural roads." He suggested Oliver return to the committee later with his ideas on a piecemeal acceptance of the county roads.

Crank said the road improvement was necessary, whether it be done "by the Highway Department, county judges, or someone else."

He asked Little River County Judge Ray Sikes, president of the County Judges Association, to ask his organization to produce some ideas and said the committee would continue to consider various possibilities.

Oliver said were the roads to become the immediate responsibility of the department it would create a $57 million deficit during the next 15 years.

He said even if a fair share of the money now going to the counties for roadbuilding purposes did divert to the department, the 15-year deficit would be $17 million.

According to Oliver's report, the federal aid system of county roads was set up 17 years ago. During this period $120 million has been spent on the roads, he said.

Pulaski County has the most mileage of the roads in question, 237.6. Crittenden has 215.7, Sebastian County has the least, 24.3. The number of miles of such roads in the other counties varies widely.

Under any system of state takeover, Oliver said, the federal aid mileage should be re-allocated among the counties so each would be able to turn over a fair share of roads to the state.

Against Addition of County Roads

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Adding 5,691 miles of federal aid county roads to the state highway system is not feasible from any standpoint at this time, Highway Director F. R. Oliver said Tuesday.

Oliver told the committee, "the Council's Roads and Highways committee the Highway Department could absorb up to 600 miles of such roads each year without disturbing its other programs."

The committee was directed by the 1961 Legislature to study the feasibility of changing the roads from county to state jurisdiction.

High School Football Predictions

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Pine Bluff shoots for its first Big Nine Championship since 1951 and hopes to keep its unbeaten string alive against the Hot Springs Trojans in the resort city this weekend.

We believe the Zebras will make it on both counts — the title by beating Hot Springs and their first undefeated season since the 1930s by whipping Stuttgart a week later.

Hot Springs hasn't been consistent, but does have a good defense. The weakest part of the defense is pass defense, and that's where Pine Bluff is sure.

The Zebras have been steady, offensively and defensively, and both teams should be up for the game.

We take Pine Bluff, 20-7.

Elsewhere around the Big Nine, this is the outlook:

LITTLE ROCK CENTRAL 14, Blytheville 6. The Tigers have had their title hopes dashed and might be in for an upset, as when Hot Springs met Fort Smith. But Central's manpower is too deep for the Chicks.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK 7, Texarkana 0. In a battle to stay off the bottom the Wildcats should be determined.

Now, for a swing through Class AA.

Springfield, Mo., 12, Fayetteville 7. Two other Springfield teams have done it.

Harrison 7, Berryville 6. A good victory for the Goblins.

Jonesboro 30, Wynne 0. The Region 2AA kings will enjoy this one.

Paragould 12, Stuttgart 0. The Ricobirds haven't been lucky.

Benton 12, Morrilton 7. One of the better battles in Region 3AA.

Little Rock Catholic 20, Searcy 0. The Rockets finally learned how to get off the pad.

Conway 20, Mabelvale 0. The Wampus Cats will remove some of the frustration accumulated against Benton.

Russellville 24, Jacksonville 7. The football field runs north and (Romnie) South.

Fuller 12, Sylvan Hills 7. A Class A team that can do it.

Camden 7, Smackover 0. The records, in view of the things that can happen in Region 4AA, say this is how it should be.

Camden Fairview 20, Malvern 0.

Porkers Second in Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Arkansas was second in scoring in major college statistics compiled after Saturday's games, netting 243 points in eight games for a 30.4 point per-game average.

Wisconsin led in that division with a 37.7 points per-game average. The Badgers have scored 276 points in seven games.

The Porkers were ninth in total offense. They totaled 2,879 yards in 572 plays in their eight games for an average of 359.9 yards per game.

Arizona State led that division with a 400.1 yard per game average.

Coach Seems Concerned With Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles, concerned with defense all season, found himself touching the same textbook Tuesday.

He sent the Razorbacks through an hour and 15 minute drill, concentrating on fielding the punts of Danny Thomas, a Southern Methodist University player Broyles termed as good as Texas' sidelined Ernie Koy.

Last week it was passes that concerned Broyles and the Porkers.

This week it is punts as well as a defense that "has allowed only three touchdowns in conference play," Broyles said.

"Our offense has its work cut out for it," he added.

Thomas is third in SWC statistics with a 40-yard average in punting. Garry Thomas, no relation of Texas Christian, has a 40.5 yard average. Koy, on the inactive list after Texas' victory over Baylor last Saturday, holds a 40.1 yard average.

"Danny Thomas is as good as Koy," Broyles said. "I didn't think anyone was as good as Koy, but I do now."

The Porker smelt SMU in Little Rock Saturday.

Teachers Compile a Good Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas State Teachers College has compiled an average of 289.4 yards per game to take over the lead in total offense in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

Arkansas Tech trails narrowly behind with a 289.2 average.

Tech has held nine foes to an average of 167.9 yards running and passing to set the pace in defense, however.

ASTC leads in rushing offense with 227.2 yards. Tech has yielded only 167.9 yards to foes and the Wonder boys have averaged 84.9 yards passing.

The Bears are 6-0 in league play, holding a slim lead over Tech for the AIC crown.

Arkansans Breed Dog Champions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A roomful of trophies attests to the success of Mrs. Mary Oliver of Little Rock in the highly competitive business of breeding champion bird dogs.

Mrs. Oliver, whose dogs have won two national championships plus many other big league honors, credits fate, luck and hard work for her triumphs.

Fate took a hand when she married a man whose other love was quail hunting.

"When I married I didn't know which end of the dog pointed the birds," she said. "I was forced into it."

When Mrs. Oliver became interested in bird dogs, she went all the way. Hard work and luck accompanied her efforts to breed fine dogs.

"I decided to concentrate on 'Texas Ranger' blood," she said. Texas Ranger, Mrs. Oliver said, won more field trial titles than any other dog.

A female called Ranger Bows, who had certain favorable qualities, was bred to a dog named Running W. Wrangler, who had other favorable traits. The product of this union apparently retained the best qualities of both animals.

One of the offspring was The Arkansas Ranger, who won the national championship in Grand Junction, Tenn., in 1958. This dog is owned by Bob Guinn of Savannah, Tenn.

A daughter of the Ranger Bows, Running W. Wrangler union was Hatie of Arkansas, a winner of many honors in her own right, who was bred to Home Agai Mike. The strain proved true again, and Home Agai Hatie won the national championship this year in Grand Junction.

Jeff of Arkansas and Hatie of Arkansas, a brother-sister combination, finished first and second in the 1957 National Derby.

Still another Oliver dog of the same family, Jeff Davis, was first in the American Quail Futurity in 1959. The futurity, Mrs. Oliver said, is dogdom's equivalent of the Kennedy Derby.

Other Oliver animals which have won major trophies include Tennessee Ranger, Drucie of Arkansas and Hatie Agai.

Mrs. Oliver's achievements were recognized by her fellow breeders in 1959 when he was selected breeder of the year.

In field trial terminology, Mrs. Oliver is an amateur. This means she handles only her own dogs. Professionals work with their own and other animals.

Field trials are designed to improve the breeding of hunting dogs, Mrs. Oliver said. Competition also is held in bench shows, but these are strictly for show dogs.

Top quality dogs are expensive and a good one is highly prized. Supply and demand govern the price at a given time, Mrs. Oliver said, but a good pup might command anywhere from $400-800.

Dogs belonging to Mrs. Oliver and many other top breeders will compete in the Southwest Championship field trial next week in Booneville.

Judges will be V. E. Humphrey of Frankston, Tenn.; Earl Buiklin of Natchez, Miss.; and W. A. "Scot" Burgess of Hammond, Ind. All are considered outstanding bird-dog trainers.

Mrs. Oliver, secretary-treasurer of the Southwest Field Trial Association, said the public is invited to the event.

There is no admission fee, but there is one requirement. All persons in the gallery must be on horseback. Some horses will be available, but Mrs. Oliver said it would be advisable to bring a mount.

Red Cross Drops Ship Searching

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP)—Plans for an immediate International Red Cross inspection of ships sailing to Cuba have been dropped, it was reliably learned today.

Reliable sources said the all-Swiss International Committee of the Red Cross no longer considers the proposed inspection—to insure that Soviet missiles and the offensive weapons are not sent to Cuba—to be vitally and immediately necessary to prevent world war.

The committee met in an emergency session Monday night with its former president, Paul Ruegger, who discussed the inspection proposal in New York with U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant.

A communique issued by the committee said the committee would have taken no active part in the proposed inspection in any case, but would have nominated international inspectors to operate under U.N. authority.

The communique said the committee would remain in close touch with Thant to work out details of a possible inspection procedure.

The communique was phrased in careful terms and gave no indication of the committee's reported decision to take no other action in the matter at present.

Under the original proposal, accepted by both President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, International Red Cross inspectors would have checked ships sailing into Cuba to make sure they contained no offensive weapons.

The committee last week declared its readiness to accept this task, although it lay outside its traditional functions, in a major threat of world war involving the survival of the human race.

Sources close to the committee said it remains ready to intervene in such an emergency, but that the major threat of world war subsided with the removal of the Soviet missiles from Cuba.

The sources said the United States is now essentially concerned to secure removal of the Ilyushin jet bombers sent to Cuba, and that these would not have come under Red Cross inspection under any circumstances.

There was never any question of a Red Cross ground inspection inside Cuba or control of air traffic to and from the island.

Cells for Truce Among GOPs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., called fellow Republicans today to observe a one-year truce on intra-party battling over a 1964 presidential nominee.

Aiken said there should be a "cooling-off" period to forestall an 18-month struggle between GOP conservatives and liberals for control of the party.

Aiken, fresh from his own re-election victory in Vermont, told an interviewer he is not planning for any candidate himself.

"I don't believe we should be in a hurry to select a candidate," he said.

The Athletic Coalition Is Uneasy

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (P) — The AAU and NCAA, at each other's throats for 2½ years in a bitter war of words and actions over control of amateur sports in the United States, were wedded in an uneasy coalition today.

The truce, reached Tuesday night after two days of intensive negotiations and a personal appeal from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, will hold until after the 1964 Olympics.

"But," said one high official, "We hope it will naturally evolve into something permanent."

No details were announced but The Associated Press learned that the agreement provides:

1. The NCAA-backed United States Track and Field Federation would be limited to educational institutions.

2. The AAU will remain the sanctioning agent in all international competition.

3. The coalition will rule internal open competition in the United States.

On the surface, it would appear that the AAU has fought off the NCAA challenge successfully. The AAU never has been particularly interested in college competition, and as a matter of fact, does not require collegiate meets to get its sanction.

The federation, on the other hand, had demanded sanctioning authority along with the AAU. This, the AAU maintained, was against the rules of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the governing body of world track and field.

Neither Walt Byers, chief NCAA negotiator, nor Col. Don Hull, who headed the AAU team, would make any comment. Only a formal statement, read by United States Olympic Committee President Tug Wilson was released.

Both the NCAA and AAU must vote on the agreement.

Things had gotten to such a serious point that the NCAA was threatening to forbid college athletes to compete in AAU meets.

The AAU, for its part, had warned that collegians who participated in non-sanctioned meets could be barred from the Olympics.

The agreement did not include basketball and gymnastics, two other sports that the two factions have been feuding over.

Increase in Revenues Predicted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — General state revenues should increase by 10 per cent during the next two years, Budget Director Julian Hogan told the Arkansas Legislative Council today.

Hogan appeared in the place of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, and told the council Faubus would need several more days before he could submit his executive recommendations as to how general revenue funds should be distributed among various agencies during the two-year period starting next July 1.

The council is preparing a set of budget recommendations for consideration by the 1963 legislature.

If Hogan's prediction of general revenues is accurate, the total would reach about $117 million in 1963-64 and $122 million in 1964-65.

This year's budget was based on $111 million.

Hogan explained that Faubus' preparation of an executive budget was delayed by the presence of Initiated Act 1, last Tuesday's general election ballot. Since the act would have allocated 50 per cent of general revenues to public schools, Faubus could not work on budgets for agencies using general revenue funds until he learned whether the act passed or failed, Hogan said. The measure was defeated.

Hogan brought to the council Faubus' recommendations for 14 small agencies which share in general revenue funds. The total budgets of the agencies are about $835,000.

"These budgets are small and you can work on them now while the governor is preparing budgets for the larger general revenue agencies," Hogan said.

Faubus is expected to appear before the council with his budgets for large agencies early next week.

Figures Porkers Will Defeat SMU Saturday

NEW YORK (A)—There must have been frost on the pumpkin used as last week's crystal ball in making the college football selections. Forty-one winners out of 50 decisions meant an average of only .707.

Here are this weekend's winners with no assurance that there are not as many traps as last week:

Southern California over Navy: The Trojans are edging toward the Rose Bowl with Pete Beathard and Bill Nelson at the controls of their attack.

Alabama over Georgia Tech: Probably the most rugged battle in the South since Grant took Richmond. A duel within a duel. Joe Namath of Alabama against Tech's Billy Lothridge.

Missouri over Oklahoma: The Tigers could clinch the Big Eight title and an Orange Bowl bid in this one. Johnny Roland gives them a slight edge.

Penn State over Holy Cross: The Nittany Lions are the East's only consistent football team.

Mississippi over Tennessee: The nickname of the Tennessee team is the Volunteers. This year the name is spelled with a small v.

Northwestern over Michigan State: Tom Myers will regain his pitching eye although the Spartans, already out of the Big Ten race, might duplicate last week's Wisconsin massacre of the Wildcats if they put handles on the ball.

Army over Pittsburgh: Each team needs a victory to redeem itself. The redemption goes to the Cadets.

Louisiana State over Mississippi State: The Bayou Bengals should have no trouble with Jerry Stovall's healthy.

Arkansas over Southern Methodist: Once more Billy Moore will be the decisive factor.

Washington over UCLA: The Huskies' hex over California teams when they visit Seattle will prevail.

Duke over Wake Forest: The kicking of Bill Reynolds plus Jay Wilkinson too much for Wake Forest.

Wisconsin over Illinois: The Badgers have an adding machine type of attack.

Longest railroad tunnel in the world is the Simplon connecting Italy and Switzerland beneath the Alps. It is 12 ½ miles long.

MRS. S. A. NIETERT, SAN ANTONIO, PAID HER SON C. A. Nietert a visit here this week and her granddaughter Mrs. John Harrie. Mrs. B. J. Wilson and two sons, Mark and Mike of North Little Rock spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harrie. It was the third get-together for the group. Mrs. Nietert, who will observe her 97th birthday on Dec. 16, has 18 great grandchildren, seven with families. She is in good health and seldom wears glasses.

Mrs. Nietert and her son are standing. In the front are Mrs. John Harrie of Hope and her daughter, Mrs. Wilson, far right, and two sons, Mike and Mark. Mrs. Nietert was accompanied to Hope by her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Dickie of San Antonio. Mrs. Dickie, aunt of Mrs. Harrie, and Dr. Dickie were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harrie.

UN Has Nothing on This Pairs Parley

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I rented a house for 10 months, hoping it would be a friendly haven for myself and little boy. Instead, it has been hell. Every time my 9-year-old son has friends in to play, the landlady runs them home, then brags to the neighbor on my left that she doesn't intend letting kids in her yard. She also told this same neighbor that our little dog was responsible for the dying condition of the neighbor's lawn. I keep the poor little animal locked in the garage most of the time.

But this isn't the worst of it; my small boy pointed a toy rifle at the neighbor on my right. She marched straight to his school principal and reported that he tried to shoot her! Next day (I was sick abed with asthma and hadn't slept for a week, the same neighbor kept shouting to workmen in her yard. My son asked her to be quiet, explaining I was ill. She remarked, "Too bad!" and kept up the din. How's that for a "good neighbor"?

Yesterday the landlady rapped on my door and began her singing all over again, about the necessity of watering her flowers. She claimed although I rented the place, she still had to do it. I saw my son water those flowers just the night before and let her know how I felt about the whole silly situation.

She told me to get out. Should I force her to evict me or move peacefully and pray that God will forgive her for not having any understanding of children? Our neighborhood is always in an uproar. —Upset

Dear Upset: Your letter indicates that subconsciously you, too, have a chip on your shoulder.

This may be a defense mechanism to conceal oversensitivity. Once you realize this — for I'm sure it's the root of your trouble — try this positive approach.

Begin with the premise that people in general are basically kind. If not, they're sick mentally, or physically. Don't force your landlady to evict you. Surprise her by going with a smile. Send her a pot of flowers the day you move. Have your little boy choose it and write his name in the accompanying card.

He might also, with your guidance, send a small gift to the belligerent neighbor. To fight them is to stoop to their level. Furthermore, unpredictable Jack Paar decided to move into the staid and scripted prime time of television, a bright light disappeared from evening television.

Johnny Carson, now presiding over the "Tonight Show" on NBC captains a tight, tidy ship. The show is amusing enough, but it has lost much of its exciting sparkling quality.

But nighttime's loss is daytime's gain. The old "Tonight" light now is gleaming brilliantly on "The Merv Griffin Show," a 55-minute refreshment NBC serves every week-day afternoon. I think the most hilarious, spontaneously funny show I have seen this season blew up Friday when Danny Kaye unexpectedly visited the show. Kaye was even funnier than he was on his excellent special two nights later.

On another afternoon, Jack E. Leonard turned the hour into a roaring shambles, reducing the other guests to tears of laughter. Griffin, easy-mannered and unobtrusive, calmly lets them go ahead. The show has Paar's old and wonderful suspense: nobody knows what will happen next.

NBC was plugging an eminently worthy cause Sunday when it devoted an hour to the proposed National Cultural Center. But did all concerned, notably including Saver Vancour, have to souse so awe-struck and reverent in dealing with the arts and the sponsoring celebrities? After all, music, poetry, drama and the dance are supposed to be lively arts. It certainly wasn't a very lively show, despite the presence of the First Lady and former President Eisenhower.

As if there were not already enough medical shows on television, NBC will add a one-hour special next Sunday—about real life in the hospital. It's a documentary called "Emergency Ward," and was made in New York's

A.A.C.W. To Hold Ground
Breaking For Youth Recreational Center
On Saturday Nov. 17, at 3 p. m., The Arkansas Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., will hold its Ground Breaking Ceremony for the Youth Recreational Center to be built at Hot Springs, Arkansas. This center was visualized by the A.A.C.W. more than a decade ago and the Federated Clubs throughout Arkansas have been working toward its reality. The site, ideally located five miles south of Hot Springs on Highway 270, borders a small lake. This Youth Center will be accessible to all groups throughout the State upon request with "Recreational Club Groups" having priority. The adult organizations of the State sponsor an auxiliary girls' organization with clubs in El Dorado, Camden, Magnolia, Hope, Pine Bluff, Little Rock, Hot Springs, Conway, Fort Smith, Van Buren, Marion, Forrest City, Brinkley, Blytheville, Augusta, Helena, and West Helena.

Noticed
The Columbus Eagles (6-1) will play host to Clove Training School (61-62 co-champions). This game will be held in the Lincoln High School gym Washington Ark. tonight at 7:45. Admission is 25c and 35c.

Village Has Shelter Almost Ready

HARDY, Ark. (AP) — Construction of a nuclear fallout shelter that will accommodate 400 persons is expected to be completed this week at Cherokee Village, a vacation-retirement development near Hardy in Sharp County.

The shelter is being built into the side of a hill in the heart of the village. It will be 14 feet wide, 300 feet long and 10 feet high. It will be equipped with a communications center, a 3,000-gallon emergency water supply tank and a blower to bring in fresh air through a filtered vent.

Village officials said a nuclear bomb would have to fall within a two-mile range to destroy the shelter, which has been constructed with huge logs and oak planks and covered with a five-foot layer of dirt.

The floor is graveled and sloped for drainage. Separate toilet facilities are connected to a septic tank downhill and a decontamination shower has been installed at the entrance.

The blower is powered by electricity, but can be converted to gasoline engine power in case electric lines are down. It also has a hand crank as a last resort.

The emergency water supply will be used only if a 4-inch main to the village water supply is broken. The village's entire water distribution system is sheathed in steel from the springs on up.

A supply of canned meats, fruits, vegetables, powdered milk, cocoa and fruit juices will be cached to supply 400 persons over a 14-day period.

The Artless Heiress

By Clarence Budington Kelland
XXVII

In the morning, on the society page of the newspaper there was a humorous story about Madame Thistlebush, under the by-line of Maxine Swan. It was funny, but on the whole it was kindly. Madame Thistlebush in ever line of it. The story made no mention of Columbine Pepper Druggel. But on the front page was a piece calling into usefulness that individual known as "a reliable authority," stating the possibility of a new and large enterprise for Phoenix. It rumored that a certain piece of property was under consideration, and that a definite statement from an authoritative source would be forthcoming in a few days.

Barbara drove Columbine down to the Security building where Sam Jones received them almost at once.

"By the way," he said, "your A rating has been restored to your kitchen."

"Very efficient of you," she said. "What I wish to know this morning is how one discovers who owns a certain piece of property."

"She asks her attorney to look it up," he said. "Which piece of property?"

She told him and he went into the library. In a few minutes he returned with a bit of paper on which was the legal description and the owner's name.

"Are you going in for real estate speculation?"

"I," Columbine said primly, "am looking for an ace to put up my sleeve."

"You've picked a tough ace," Sam said. "This land belongs to old Priscilla Stubblefield, whose family came here before Darrell Duppa named the town. The property they own was ransled away from the Indians and they've never sold a foot of it."

"Where does she live?" Columbine asked.

He named the apartment hotel where Miss Stubblefield lived.

They drove down to the hotel and parked in the auto lobby. Thence they walked to the desk, where Columbine inquired for Miss Priscilla Stubblefield.

"Miss Stubblefield," said the clerk, "has gone out for her morning stroll. But I am afraid she will not see you without appointment."

"They had waited for but a few minutes when a tiny, spry old lady who seemed to have no need for the cane she carried came briskly through the door.

"That," Columbine said with certainty, "is she."

Columbine's steel-trap mind was spinning as it sought for a device to attract Miss Stubblefield's attention. The opportunity would be brief. Then she was inspired. She did not look at the old lady, but at Barbara as she said briskly, quoting a farmer grand-sire, "The best fertilizer a man can put on his land is the foot of the owner." Then they stepped with her into the elevator.

Miss Stubblefield cocked an eye upward.

"Wherever, my child, did you hear that old saw?" she asked. "From my Grandfather Druggel," said Columbine.

"It would appear," Miss Stubblefield said, "that you have been well brought up, I, myself, am an alumna of Vassar. Class of 1899."

Miss Stubblefield cast an eye on Barbara.

"And what is your special quality?"

"I debunk," Barbara said. I gleefully debunk. I prick bubbles. I trip strutters. I adore the meek, but despise the inflated."

Miss Stubblefield admired. "You refresh, and I need refreshing this morning. Here's my floor. Do get off and come to my apartment to give an hour's amusement to in old, old woman."

They followed Miss Stubblefield as she clicked along the corridor to her door and into her apartment, crowded with treasures of the past.

Columbine did not take the proffered chair. She stood very straight and her young face was grave.

"Miss Stubblefield," she said. "I am here through a ruse. I was told you probably would not receive me. So I restored to-to stratagem."

Miss Stubblefield's gray eyes, deep-set, narrowed themselves to clemency.

"Then why did you not proceed with your scheme, whatever it is, without admitting your trickery?"

Columbine hesitated, and then, by chance or by instinct, said the right thing. "Because, Miss Stubblefield, you have high standards, ma'am; what used to be called noblesse oblige. And I became ashamed."

15 in State Meet Death by Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fifteen weekend deaths in Arkansas pushed the state's total of violent deaths for the week ended midnight Sunday to 24. The week ended ranked among the most death-ridden in the state this year.

Mark Wayne Tatum, 18, of Weiner was killed Sunday night as he walked along state Highway 39 a mile south of Weiner. State Trooper Marvin Cook said apparently Tatum, driving a truck owned by J. B. Huber, ran out of gas and began walking toward Weiner.

Huber, driving down the highway, stopped near his truck when he said it parked alongside the road, and Tatum began walking back toward the truck, facing traffic. Apparently he was walking back to explain what had happened.

Mrs. Lewis Burris, 48, of Jonesboro, was driving on the highway and said she did not see the boy until an oncoming car had passed her. She said when she saw him he was on the hard surface of the highway. The impact knocked him 72 feet. Cook said.

A boy and girl died at Fort Smith over the weekend after separate accidents.

April Eileen, 5, died Sunday in a Fort Smith hospital of burns received at her home at Fort Smith last Friday night. Police said the girl's bathrobe caught fire from a heater in her home.

Four-year-old William Patrick Wilson of Lavaca was hit by a truck and killed at Fort Smith late Saturday on state Highway 96 near his home. State Trooper Bob Jones said Carl Patterson, 29, of Lavaca was driving the truck.

Jones said Patterson was charged with negligent homicide and released on $500 bond. A hearing is expected to be held soon, Jones said.

A Little Rock man, 28-year-old Mack Edward Mathews, died Sunday in a Little Rock hospital of two bullet wounds in the abdomen.

Police charged Thomas Cody Adams, 38, also of Little Rock, with the murder, and also charged him with assault with intent to kill in connection with the wound.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Wednesday. The shooting occurred early Sunday at a Little Rock cafe. Pope is in satisfactory condition in a Little Rock hospital.

A wall collapsed Sunday in downtown Camden, crushing two men to death and injuring another. James Johnson of Dallas, Tex., and Robert W. Nichols of Hot Springs were killed. Both were 30. Bill Nichols, brother of the dead man, was hospitalized at Camden with a broken leg and other injuries.

The men were digging near a wall in preparation for pulling it down to make way for a new bank when the wall gave way, burying them. Firemen dug the men from the rubble.

A fire at Grannis claimed three lives Saturday night.

John Hoard Aiken, 90, and his two sons—Charles Clay Aiken, 52, and Martin Clarence Aiken, 42—were burned to death. Sheriff Bruce Scoggins of Polk County said the men lived alone in the house.

The cause of the blaze is undetermined, he said.

A San Antonio, Tex., man was shot and killed at a store 15 miles north of McGehee Saturday night. Sheriff Robert Moore said Sunday.

Upton Staples, 61, was shot with a high-powered rifle, Moore said, and two other persons reportedly on the scene are in a state of shock.

Details of the shooting were unavailable.

A Hempstead County Negro was shot to death Sunday near McNab. Sheriff Jimmy Griffin said Char-les Jefferson of Columbus died at a Hope hospital after being wound-

Clean-up on Guam Underway

By ROBERT MYERS

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Recovery teams began sifting through what appeared to be a massive junkyard on Guam today and say they expect to find more victims in the rubble left by Typhoon Karen.

Karen, officially described as the worst disaster in the history of this strategic American outpost in the western Pacific, damaged or destroyed nearly every civilian building on the island. Winds up to 174 miles an hour blasted the island for four hours Sunday night.

So far, six Guamanians have been reported dead, at least 10 other natives and military men dependents injured and damage estimated at more than $100 million.

Red Cross and civil defense officials have been set up to coordinate recovery. U.S. Dist. Judge Paul D. Shriver has been named as head of this effort.

Most of the wreckage is still uncheckered.

"When we finally get to clearing up the mess, we'll probably find more bodies," police officials said.

Acting Gov. Manuel Guerrero termed it a miracle that more did not die.

Most schools and businesses were closed. Male teachers were assigned to a security force to protect schools and property. Women teachers were ordered to work with the Red Cross and other recovery groups.

Temporary home repairs have begun, but most residents were still living in hospitals, churches and schools.

Water was in short supply and being distributed at emergency pumping stations across the 32-mile-long island.

Guerrero told his people that help was coming but urged them to "do what you can yourselves. We must help ourselves first."

In Tokyo, meanwhile, weather forecasts said Karen was expected to pass some 150 miles to the south and east of U.S. controlled Okinawa Thursday night, Japan time.

Grim Life in Cuba Is Related

By BEM PRICE

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—This U.S. naval base is a little mine of information about the grim life outside in Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Fifty refugees from Castro are here now, although U.S. officials do not admit this. The Cubans tell of hunger, a shortage of doctors, police-state rule, and disaffection even among the people's militia.

They say the militia, the backbone of Castro's military position, was disgruntled when it was put on short rations after being called up because of fear of a U.S. invasion.

Western intelligence experts estimate Castro has 200,000 men and women in the militia, and a regular army of 80,000 equipped with modern Soviet weapons.

Castro appears now to distrust the militia, refugees say. They report militiamen no longer can keep their rifles and machine guns while off duty and must account for all ammunition issued.

Besides the refugees, who climb the high steel, barbed-wire-topped fences or swim past Communist guards on the seaward side, Cuban workers at this base also are a source of information on life on the outside.

A worker employed on the base for 26 years said the people were overjoyed when it appeared last month President Kennedy was about to crack down on Castro. But now he said the people are disappointed and downhearted.

"The medical situation in Cuba is very bad," he said. "I hear three days ago my friend died without medical attention. Castro is very short of doctors and he is trying to improvise doctors. Anybody who had any experience is now a doctor.

"In the last 15 months I say maybe 60 per cent of the people are against Castro. In this time of crisis it has worsened.

"When President Kennedy made his Oct. 22 speech announcing that Soviet missiles were in Cuba and must be removed, it made the people very happy but now they are downhearted. They are angry and hungry. They cannot get anything to eat.

"The United States is losing a lot of friends. People do not know what to do. People are just sick and worried."

suggests that Nikita Khrushchev has been helped as much as he has been hurt by the Cuban crisis. Indications are that he will have his way in preparing the U.S.S.R. for a long-pull economic cold war.

Close examination of what went on before, during and after the 45th October Revolution anniversary seems to justify speculation concerning developments of high significance in the global political-economic war.

A picture emerges of Khrushchev as chairman of a collective of Soviet leaders whose theories, doggedly pushed since the de-stalinization congress of 1956, now are being vindicated.

The collective thus has had the opportunity to apply a coup de grace to its internal enemies and turn its attention to Khrushchev's original program. This seemingly was based on the assumption that nuclear war would ruin the Soviet Union, and that the logical course was to prepare for economic war on a world scale.

This does not mean Communists will not grab opportunities where they find them. But it can mean that the overriding policy is "better safe than sorry." It can mean that so long as the United States and the West keep up their guard, caution will be the Kremlin watchword.

The Cuban adventure showed how close Moscow could come to blundering into nuclear war with recklessly warlike policies. It is even possible the missile buildup in Cuba was undertaken against Khrushchev's better judgment, that he was overruled when the decision was made some months ago to go ahead with it.

Indications now are that Khrushchev's side has won whatever debates went on in party councils regarding the decision to pull back the missiles.

Having won that argument, the collective is strengthened in holding back impatient Communists who want aggressive action in

Conviction of Negro Reversed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court reversed today the conviction of Willie B.

West Berlin and elsewhere.

All these things undoubtedly were dealt with during the parade of visits satellite leaders made to Moscow recently.

Principally, the Kremlin seems preoccupied with putting off the time when it might have to take an action which would take the U.S.S.R. beyond the point of no return.

The whole time of the 45th anniversary celebration was one of moderation.

All this may signify a significant turn in Soviet policy. It can mean that the present Soviet leadership, has decided, with regard to Communist expansion, to make haste a little more slowly, at least while the Western world remains on the alert.

Nathan, a 26-year-old Negro sentenced to 21 years in prison in connection with an attack on a white woman near Helena Jan. 28, 1961.

The high court held that the trial court erred when it failed to instruct the jury that an alleged confession by Nathan was presumed to be involuntary and that the prosecution was obligated to prove that it had not been given under duress.

Nathan was charged with rape in the case. The jury convicted him on a lesser charge of assault with intent to rape.

Nathan was accused of attacking the woman in her trailer home after her husband left for work about 3 a. m.

The Supreme Court affirmed another assault with intent to rape conviction, this one from Cleburne Circuit Court. Clinton Kurch was sentenced to four years in prison in connection with an alleged attack on Nov. 6, 1961.

Cubans Report Sabotage Try

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban security officials said today they have smashed an attempt to sabotage the copper mines of Matahambre and captured a man they called the principal chief of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in Cuba.

Radio Havana identified the captive leader as Miguel Angel Orozco Crespo, once an army officer under ousted President Fulgencio Batista. It said two groups of saboteurs landed near Matahambre, on Cuba's western tip, with half a ton of weapons. It called them LIA agents.

The mining center is 20 miles northwest of Pinar del Rio, capital of Pinar del Rio Province. It is linked by cableway with the Gulf of Mexico coast. This cableway was described as one of the targets of the saboteurs.

Wrap-Up Your Christmas

Pagan and Christian customs are combined in our giving of gifts. Santa Claus is a variation of the name Saint Nicholas. His festival day is Dec. 6.

Living in the Fourth Century according to legend, he secretly went about giving gifts to the needy. In one favorite tale he left bags of gold for three girls who had no dowries; needless to add all three soon were married.

Other names for the giftgiver are Papa Noel, La Befana, Jule-nissen — plus many more.

Kris Kringle, for instance, comes from the German words "Christ Kind," or infant Christ, but is depicted now as a girl wearing a crown and carrying a Christmas tree. She shares honors with Knecht Rupert, who gives presents to the good children and Peismichol (Nicolas with fur) who leaves only switches in the shoes of naughty boys and girls.

It probably is from the European custom of setting out the shoe or sabot for gifts that we derived our own ceremony of hanging up a stocking on Christmas Eve.

Some scholars believe caroling is a carry-over from the Roman songs of the Saturnalia. The first songs of the Nativity date from the Fourth Century and German lieder from the 11th. Some 200 years later, carols found their way into France and Britain. One quaint belief of northern England was that on Christmas Eve the bees gathered and hummed carols.

The Puritans strongly opposed singing and even the celebration of Christmas itself. In England they passed laws in 1644 forbidding its observance, but these were repealed after the Restoration.

From 1659 to 1681 in part of America it was a criminal offense to celebrate the holiday. Later in our history, George Washington credited his success against the Hessians at Trenton in 1776 to the enemy's evening of Christmas revelry that left them open to a surprise attack.

Leather ottomans are perfect seats for youngsters; Dad uses them to stretch his legs on while relaxing. Mother likes their bright notes of color.

The Look of Silk, and easy packability are important virtues in this whisper-weight robe. A born traveler, this robe of Eastman's Estren acetate folds into a mere slip of an envelope for packing, comes out wrinkle-free and can be washed in a wink, drip dried, too.

"The Precious Look" is expressed in this necklace and earrings of sparkling crystals and rhinestones. The jeweled ensemble is an exciting gift for any woman's Christmas and will compliment her every gala-occasion fashion in the months to come.

Fire at Ouachita Is Investigated

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Police are investigating a mysterious fire at Ouachita Baptist College which destroyed nine of the school's homecoming floats Saturday.

Asst. Fire Chief Harold Shepherd said today authorities believe the fire was deliberately set, but that "we can't prove it." He said an unidentified person was seen around the floats shortly before the fire broke out.

The floats had been parked on the old football field on the college campus.

Dewey Watson, president of the Ouachita's student body, also said

She Made the Most of Her Opportunities

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Life for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the great and gracious lady who died Wednesday night, would have been deeply different if she had been born a generation earlier.

Then she might have been considered just a goodhearted but ineffectual busybody. But she made the most of her times and her opportunities until, when she died, she had become the best-loved woman in the world.

She had that priceless quality in a human being: Concern for other people. She had an even rarer quality: A willingness to do something about her feeling.

The underlying philosophy in much she did for people was the belief the government must take an increasing responsibility for the general welfare.

This was a responsibility that government ducked through most of its history and only assumed in the 1890s to avoid national chaos in the desolation of depression. It was forced into it.

Until President Roosevelt's New Deal of the 1930s, the national philosophy was so-called rugged individualism which to often became a philosophy of the devil-take-the-hindmost.

Until New Deal days there would have been far fewer to listen to her and, more fatal to her ideas of a better world, far fewer in positions of power to cooperate with her.

She insisted, in explaining her activities in behalf of groups and people in general, that she simply had to do what she thought was right. What she considered right was not always what others considered right.

Those others included the battalions with prejudices against a public and active life for women, racial prejudices, economic prejudices, social prejudices and even national prejudices.

She was criticized, lampooned, mimicked and belittled. But she was never deterred.

She was orphaned at 9, a girl with only inner beauty. Her very plainness no doubt helped identify more easily with the commonality of mankind.

She acquired an overpoweringly dominant mother-in-law. She had six children and a husband crippled by polio. And, what made her particularly human, was the fact that her social and political consciousness developed slowly.

With her drive she might have become a prominent figure even if her husband had not been president of the United States.

But the White House and the times in which she lived gave her the opportunity to become a full and leading participant in the life of the nation and the world.

She was one of those few people who, at the moment of death, could look back on her life and not feel that, if given another chance, she might have made better use of it.

the fire was deliberately set. He said stains on the floats indicated that gasoline or some other inflammable substance may have been used to set the fire.

Watson said the damages ran into the hundreds of dollars but that a list of damages had not been compiled.

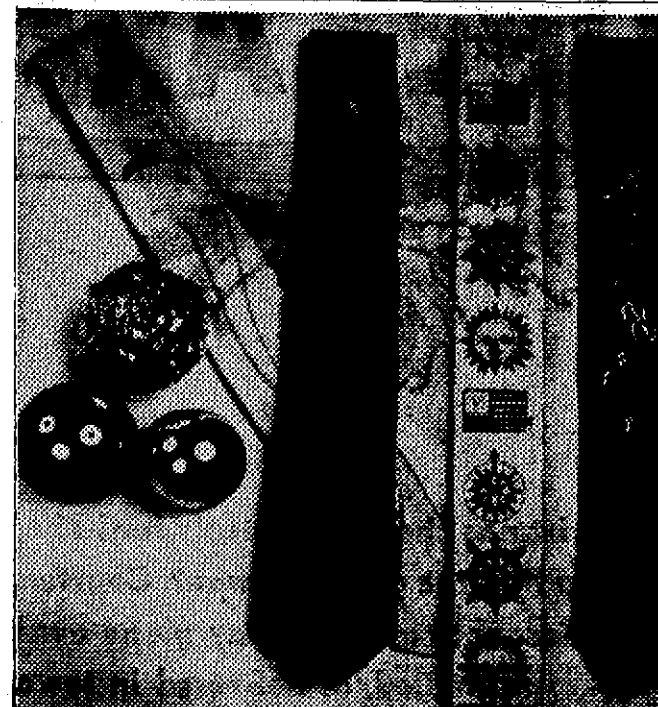

Gay-colored, quilted boxes for handkerchiefs, hosiery, gloves and scarves encourage "ship-shapeliness" of bureau drawers.

Oriental Opulence is reflected in this elegant full-length robe. A glowing metallic-printed rayon brocade shapes the coat and is wonderfully insulated with Kodol "fiberfill." It's machine-washable and dryable and a fabulous gift for the woman who enjoys dressing up for her leisure, too.

GIVE PAPA, MAMA AND BABY handsome leather slippers and you'll put them on cozy feeling for many days after Christmas. Papa's: a year-round moccasin slipper in soft deerskin leather and bright red pile lining. Mama's: a glamorous wedge mule in grained leather with ornament and gold vamp trim. Baby's: wooly shearing-lined booties in suede with cushioned, soft-leather sole.

PLEASE YOUR GUY WITH A SPECIAL TIE that reflects a man's interests. New designs on the season's smartest ties discreetly point up a fellow's profession, hobbies and sports favorites. Your Christmas gift tie can be more personal and meaningful with proper selection, says the Men's Tie Foundation.

From the college man to the established business man, there's no better prestige symbol than a handsome smooth leather briefcase, with separate paper compartments. Many have lightweight leather folders the traveler can pull out and take, with him instead of carrying the entire briefcase.

The debonair indoor male may favor a tooled leather tobacco humidor, a luxurious leather case for his hand-carved ivory chessmen, or perhaps a new leather desk set for his den. Leather-cased travel clocks, or leather traveling slippers are a couple of items the busy executive will welcome.

Follow the Signs for Safety

Something as commonplace as a traffic sign could mean the difference between a joyous Christmas with loved ones or a pain-wracked holiday in a hospital bed.

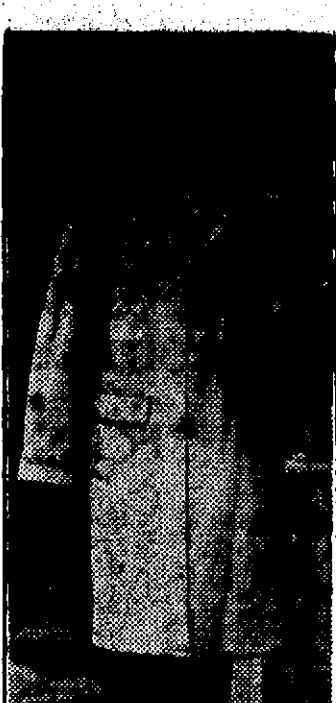

With Christmas falling on Tuesday, many businesses will be closed Monday so employees can enjoy a four-day holiday. Hundreds of thousands will go by auto to visit relatives and friends. Many will drive on strange roads and will have to rely on traffic signs to help them along the way.

Danger might lurk on these unfamiliar roads because signs may be missing, damaged or inadequate. Despite their value, signs often are the most neglected part of our highway system, as weathering, vandalism and accidents annually make more than 350,000 highway signs useless.

Experts believe that signs that give motorists insufficient advance warning of what lies ahead are among the greatest problems of safe night driving. The lack of proper night visibility is an important defect in most sign systems throughout the country.

In many areas modern signs are being installed that shine in automobile headlights can be seen hundreds of feet away. These take the guesswork out of nighttime driving and help make a motorist's journey safer and easier.

Regardless of where you drive for the Christmas holiday, traffic signs can be your "Star in the East" to lead you safely to your loved ones. Observe them and

Doubts Reds Moving Out Missiles

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer voiced great skepticism today about reports that the Soviets are removing their missiles from Cuba.

Speaking to reporters on the eve of Washington conferences with President Kennedy, he declared the Cuban crisis is far from over and inquires: How does anyone know the rockets are gone?

He said 40 to 60 missiles had been taken to the island and added that as far as he is concerned no clear evidence has been presented that they are being removed.

Soviet ships have been photographed leaving Cuba with long covered tubes on deck but that proves nothing, Adenauer maintained. He said he can not believe the Soviets would secretly transport missiles and nuclear warheads to Cuba and then quietly remove them again.

Adenauer called it dangerous to let the Soviets depict themselves as great peace lovers just because Soviet Premier Khrushchev said he would pull the rockets out of Cuba. He said the Kremlin wants to keep Cuba intact as a Communist country and that it is this long as the U.S.S.R. shows no Red Cuba in the center of the evidence of being genuinely inter-

America that is the great danger to world peace.

Adenauer said the Cuba crisis was a drastic lesson for those Washington circles who have been believing that one could negotiate. The chancellor had been repeatedly reported as fearing the Kennedy administration was underestimating the danger and aims of world communism. He said he opposed Western negotiations with the Soviet Union so long as the U.S.S.R. shows no Red Cuba in the center of the evidence of being genuinely inter-

The Arkansas man's car reportedly was used by two men who shot Namie five times last Wednesday at the parking lot of a barroom. Namie, under police protection, was reported in satisfactory condition in a Shreveport hospital.

A witness to the shooting took down the license number of the car and the Arkansas man was later picked up for questioning. Police did not identify the man.

Men Held in Fatal Shooting

MCGHEE, Ark. (AP) — A Kelso, Ark., man is being held by DeSha County authorities in connection with the fatal shooting Saturday of Upton Staples, 61, of San Antonio, Tex.

DeSha County Sheriff Robert S. Moore identified the man as M. W. Matthews, owner of the store in which Staples was shot. He said Matthews and his wife were in a hospital in Dallas suffering from shock.

The sheriff said no charges had been filed and probably would not be until he had talked with Matthews later today.

Moore said Staples was shot by a high-powered rifle in the living quarters behind Matthews' store. Staples, a former resident of Dallas, was in the area for the deer season which started today. He said the investigation was continuing.

Shopping Chores Early Christmas Customs of World

Christmas is always so much more fun when you can sit back and enjoy the festivities — rest and relaxed.

So you see, "Shop early" is no mere slogan. It is good sound advice, which pays generous dividends to the gift shopper in many ways.

Early shopping gives you more time to choose wisely and well from wider selections. It gives you more savings on early specials.

It gives you more time to pay. If you need it, it gives you more time to relax and enjoy the approach of the holiday season.

In addition to the countless suggestions for gift buying to be found in the articles and pictures in these pages, many stores in the city have taken advertising space in which to tell you exactly by what they now have in stock to help you choose thrilling gifts for everyone on your list.

Since finances are part of everybody's Christmas shopping picture, the convenient lay-away plans that many stores offer are often a great help. With a small deposit here and there to hold gift selections, you're several important steps ahead on your Christmas shopping.

The experts say it's wise to shop a little every day, pay a little every week, and then take out your gifts in time for Christmas. It's easy on your budget and easy on you!

You may need a financial "assistant" on a longer term basis where major purchases are involved. In this event you can arrange for longer term payments or a visit to your bank may well bring a happy solution to your problem.

Most banks can arrange loans for Christmas gift giving, on terms to suit the needs and convenience of the borrower.

When you start to accumulate your gifts (via early shopping) it's important to set aside a special place in which to store them as they are wrapped and marked for their recipients.

Christmas gift lists are a "must." Write yours out carefully, and well ahead of time, and study it thoughtfully, before shopping. Think of the person when you think of the gift. Can he use it? Will he like it? Will it fit?

In shopping, watch for bargains, of course. But, most importantly, stress values in all purchases, keeping ever in mind that the true test of value is what you get for what you pay.

Remember, your Christmas shopping will be well "under control" once it's well under way. So the important thing is to get started — now — and enjoy a truly "Merry Christmas!"

For an old-fashioned Christmas — tradition in the many niceties that make for a very happy holiday — traditional in the many niceties of the home and plan to use it for effective about the house decor.

The ingredients for decorating the interior are boughs of evergreen, red and white candles, ornaments, holly, and a good portion of imagination.

The secret of Santa's success with men is a gift that spells good taste and good living. A leather jacket or coat fits the gift formula to a "T."

GOP Proved the Minority U.S. Party

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Last week's elections demonstrate once again that the Republican party nationally is strictly a minority party.

The voters, as they have for 30 years with only two exceptions, showed no confidence in letting them run Congress.

But, if it's comfort to the Republicans, the Democrats are a kind of political myth. They parade under one banner, but are sharply and painfully divided into Northern and Southern Democrats.

In short, the American political party system is all gummed up. Before election Democrats controlled Congress by overwhelming majorities. After election they still had overwhelming majorities in both houses. All the election did was confirm their control.

The Democrats even gained four Senate seats while the Republicans were able to capture only two in the House. Now the score in the Senate is 68 to 32 for the Democrats and, in the House, 259 to 176.

There was the usual deluge of post-election analyses. This time the emphasis was on whether President Kennedy, who had asked for even more Democrats, could be considered a winner or loser.

There was only one real loser: the Republicans. They got one more crushing defeat. In the 16 national elections since 1932 the voters have given the Republicans a majority in Congress only twice: in 1946 and 1952.

In 1946 there was wide discontent with shortages and the remnants of wartime controls. In 1952 President Eisenhower carried his party to victory with him on his sturdy coattails.

But the voters quickly showed (a) that they made a distinction between Eisenhower and his fellow-Republicans and (b) that they lacked confidence in Republican control of Congress.

They did it by putting the Democrats in control in the very next election, 1954, and every election since, including 1956 when they again elected Eisenhower in a huge turnout.

Painful as it must be to Republicans, this is not all. Even in the states the voters show a sharp preference for Democrats, as they did this year in the gubernatorial races by electing more than twice as many Democrats as Republicans.

A foreigner looking at the election returns might be mystified. While there are liberals in both parties, more among the Democrats than among the Republicans the broad base of both parties is conservative.

This is not all that makes for confusion to anyone looking for clear-cut differences between the parties. There is also deep and damaging cleavage within the Democratic party between North and South.

Be Sure Your Tree Lights Are Safe

It's important to check last year's Christmas tree lights and strings well in advance of tree-trimming time.

Be sure to inspect them carefully. Plug each string in separately. If lights flicker after you've tightened all the bulbs it may mean that sockets are loose or there may be a short in the wire. Examine the strings carefully (while disconnected) for broken, frayed spots. Replace any defective strings and bulbs you may find.

To estimate the power load you need, multiply the number of bulbs by the wattage for each. The smallest bulb, used in strings connected in series (when one bulb goes, they all go out) is rated at five watts.

The next larger, and now the most popular, used in indoor parallel strings, is a 10-watt bulb. Floodlights and spot-lights are generally 150 watts each.

FOR OUTDOORS

Use only the light strings designed for exterior use for outdoor lighting. Extensions should be of heavy-duty wire with weather-proof covering. Outdoor connections between cords should be wrapped with rubber or plastic tape to seal out moisture.

Use an outdoor, weatherproof outlet for your power supply if possible. Next best is use of an outdoor light, such as a porch outlet, after removing the bulb.

INSULATION

If a line is being run to a tree or display some distance from the house, run the line up the side of the house at least seven feet and secure it with an insulator. Run it from that point to the tree and tie it to a sturdy limb.

If a small shrub near the foundation is to be lighted, run the extension to the top of a stake driven in the ground.

If floodlighting the house or a display, use weatherproof bulbs along with special outdoor receptacles.

Indoors or out, don't overload circuits. An average branch circuit, fused to 15 amperes, can handle a load of about 1,800 watts. Circuits of heavier wire and protected with 20-amp fuses can handle up to 2,400 watts if divided through several outlets.

Replace defective strings. Use strings of lights that are connected in parallel, especially for outdoor decorations. Parallel connections permit the remaining bulbs to continue burning even though one or more has burned out.

Garments and blanket bags in mantled for storage all have their own appeal to the good housekeeper.

Something Extra-Special for her is this cardigan neckline robe with two large pockets, velvet ribbons and tiny velvet buttons. The robe is designed with a nylon chiffon skirt and is yummily intertwined with Eastman's "libertine."

When The Lady Says, "Make mine fur" — think mink — as long as it's a lovely mink per-trait collar atop a versatile, lovely broadtail jacket. Now broadtail furs come in an exciting array of colors and a fashion-wise jacket such as this one will certainly put stars in her eyes.

Market to Be Flooded With Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department moved today to flood the market with deliberately misprinted Dag Hammarskjöld commemorative stamps to wipe out the inflated value of unintentional misprints in the hands of collectors.

Postal officials acknowledged the step was certain to bring howls of protest from collectors holding stamps resulting from the original misprint.

But James F. Kelleher, special assistant to Postmaster General J. Edward Day, said new run-offs of the stamp, with its inverted yellow background, "will be made available in unlimited quantities... to satisfy collectors' demands."

Estimates of the value of the original misprint ranged as high as $500,000 for one unbroken 50-cent stamp pane held by a New Jersey collector.

"In line with the postmaster general's policy of avoiding production of rare or over-valued philatelic items," said an announcement distributed by Kelleher, "the unusual misprint, exactly as it appears on the inverted stamp now known to be in post offices, will be deliberately reproduced by the bureau and will carry the same title numbers as the few stamps now in circulation."

The original misprints passed rigid mechanical and human inspection procedures employed by the department to catch just such mistakes.

pers and magazines within India the government will not hesitate to take action against them if they persist in issuing antinational material during the frontier crisis, "to his is no time for criticisms or condemnations," he said.

Nehru, who will be 73 Wednesday, reported to Parliament on a sidelight of the frontier hostilities.

He said guerrilla activity against the government in Nagaland, long a center of a tribal independence movement, has been diminishing since Red China launched its full offensive.

A government spokesman said the Himalayan front was quiet overnight and Indian patrols were uneventful. He reported snowfall in the mountains is hampering military activity in some areas.

India Plans to Organize Home Guards

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The government announced today home guards will be organized in all districts bordering Tibet, and military training instituted for all able-bodied men to help India fight its undeclared war with Red China.

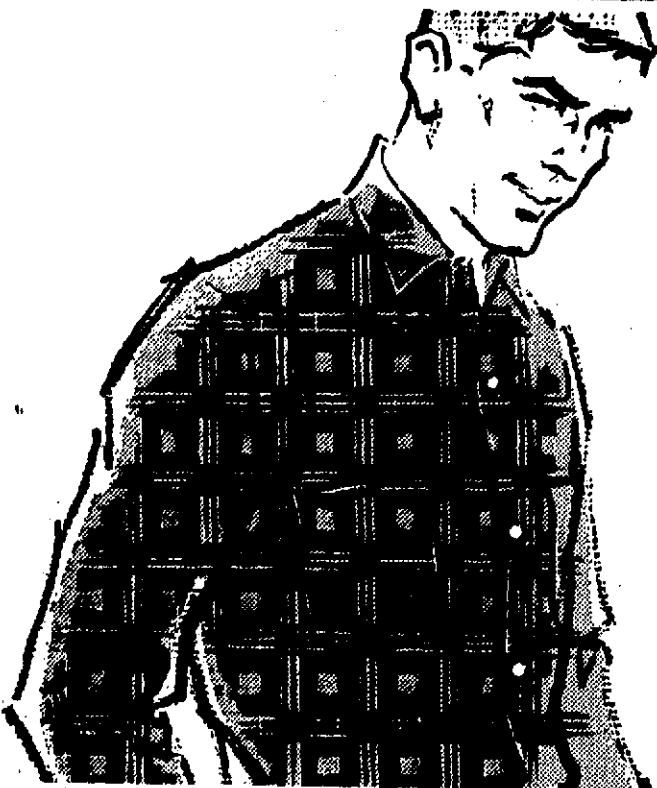

Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told Parliament that Prime Minister Nehru's administration has decided to take immediate steps to organize civil defense on a nationwide basis.

Shastri warned Communist pa-
